If you feel that you are worthless, then you have to read this story. It was about a boy named Lucas. In Lucas neighborhood, there was a rule that if somebody did some mistakes they would get a sticker on their bodies. Everytime they did good thing they got star on their bodies. In the end of the month, there would be an event to choose who was the best man and who was the worst.

Lucas was a wooden boy. He was so clumsy and always made mistakes. Just in one day, he could get more than ten stickers on his body. Everyone marked him as the worst boy in town. Lucas became sadder and sadder everyday. He looked down for himself. He did thought that he was really a bad boy and wasn't better than the others. People in town pranked him everyday. He became like a joke-butt.

One day, when he was trying to fix his roof, he fell so hard. Everyone laughed at him. When he was trying to get up, he hit water drums around him. The drums fell down and caused a lot of noise. People laughed louder and louder. Lucas felt really embarrassed and ran away to the hill. There, he met Teresa. Teresa was a beautiful girl, but people in town thought she was crazy. Stickers and stars could not stick on her body. She always lived alone, far from the downtown. He was also afraid of her, but he really wanted to be like her, when nobody could put stickers on him.

Cindy

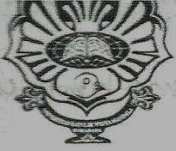

Teresa came closer to Lucas and stared at him. Lucas stuck on place. He could not move his feet because he was so afraid. Then, Lucas encouraged himself to ask Teresa a question. "How can't any sticker and star stick on you?", asked Lucas. Teresa smiled and say, "Because I don't want to." Lucas was confused with Teresa's answer. Then Teresa said again, "Go see Abraham, the carpenter. He really wants to see you and he will give you a better answer for your question." Suddenly Teresa left him alone. Lucas still couldn't move anywhere. Abraham was a giant carpenter. Everyone were afraid of him. They said he was a beast, but Lucas really wanted to know the answer.

With hesitation, Lucas went to Abraham's house. When he arrived, the door was opened. The room was so dark and scary. Lucas encouraged himself to come in. "Abraham, are you there?", Lucas asked. "Come my son, I've been waiting for you for a long time." Lucas came and finally he could see the giant carpenter. Surprisingly, he wasn't scary at all. Abraham asked Lucas to sit on his lap. He stared at Lucas softly and smiled. "I've been waiting for you for a very long time. I'm your father, Lucas. I created you and I made it perfect. You're not bad as everyone told you so. I created you with love and I made you same as me. I used my own picture. You're perfect and no one can judge you without your permission." Lucas could not say anything. He thought about Abraham's words.

Lucas came home with a lot of confusing things. He went to his bed and thought again. "If my creator created me perfectly, then no one can say I am not," he said to himself. Teresa said the stickers and stars didn't want to stick because she didn't want to. Maybe that was the key. Lucas became more confident and he realized that he was perfect as his father. He did not want anyone judge him because people did not know about him.

The following morning, Lucas went to the town confidently. Suddenly he slipped and fell, but when somebody wanted to stick a sticker on him, it wouldn't stick. Time by time, all of stickers that already stuck on him fell down and his body finally cleaned again. Lucas learned that no one could judge him without permission and he learned to respect himself.

Whether you realize it or not, we are all like Lucas. We often let other people judge ourselves and give mark on us. It is wrong. You have to think that you're valuable and you're good. You're not a missed product or something because God made you beautiful. If you let somebody judge yourself that means that you let somebody judge God's creature. You have to respect yourself more than before and think yourself worthy. If you're fat or short, so what? God made you that way and he never did a mistake. You have to hold your head up and stand tall because you are precious. You are beautiful however you are.

Until one day, she met with the leader of goblin race called Extinguisher. He was the most powerful goblin and also the leader of goblin race. Valkyrie challenged him to fight, but Extinguisher refused it. He said that with fighting, no problem could be solved. It only made the problem became worse. Valkyrie didn't care about it. She tried to hit Extinguisher.

with her lance. Extinguisher didn't dodge that attack. He only moved his finger to block. Valkyrie felt very surprised that her lance which has killed more than 100 non-human creatures couldn't make a single hit to Extinguisher. Extinguisher decided to end this unbalanced fight. He grabbed Valkyrie's lance and broke it into a part. Then, he grabbed her hand and asked her to follow him. Extinguisher brought Valkyrie to a place called Memory Dust. It was a sacred place of goblin race. Many crystals and diamonds could be found there. They made a formation like a pyramid with a hole in the center. The hole was filled with water. Extinguisher put his hand into the water and spelled a mystical word. Then, the water moved and created a vortex. The pyramid turned into a mirror that showed a cruel accident. It was the accident that made Valkyrie's family and village being crushed. Valkyrie was very upset looking at that accident. Extinguisher asked her to be calm and told something that was unexpected. He said that actually the goblins and the gargoyles there were not ^{from} their group. They were the creation of Emphorium Kingdom which ^{them} used to make the relationship between human race and non-human race broke. Emphorium Kingdom wanted to conquer all the island that belongs as the living place for non-human race. They wanted to receive support from another kingdoms to attack the non-human race's living place. Valkyrie was very disappointed with her own promise that she would kill all the ^{non} human races because they were the cause of her father and daughter died. Now, after knowing the fact, she must make a decision whether she would join non-human race to fight against Emphorium Kingdom or still stand on her stand to defeat all the non-human races.

Valkyrie made a very ^{important} decision that she joined the non-human race. She made that decision because she wanted to know why must her village become the target of Emphorium Kingdom's egotism. Then, Extinguisher brought Valkyrie to the meeting place of non-human race. It was a very large tree with a golden leaf on the top. There, she met the leader of ogre race, Destroyer, the leader of elf race, Seraphyca, the leader of dwarf race, Pedro, and the leader of the mighty dragon race, Lordes. They were talking about their strategy to attack Emphorium castle. They made a strategy that the dwarves would be the supplier of the weapon and supplies, the elves as the healer of the wounded fighter, the ogres as the first wave to break the castle defence, the goblins as the second wave to attack the enemy fighters and the dragon as the sweeper of the survival enemy. They held a big party at the night to prepare their attack. They ate many kinds of food, drank liquor and white wine. They sang and danced together. It was the final battle.

The next day, they have prepared themselves to fight. Valkyrie was promoted as the leader of that forces. Because it was an ambush, the Emphorium Castle easily be taken. The king of that kingdom could be arrested. But... the problem actually didn't clear yet. The king of that kingdom actually was a fake. They found the real king in the underground prison with a locked mask on his face. Eventually, it meant that the brain of the attack to the village was not from the king. The king told Valkyrie that actually he was attacked the night before the attack and be put in the prison. He told Valkyrie that he made the gargoyles and the real gargoyles. But, someone misused it and made the relationship of human race & non-human race be broken. Suddenly, a screaming voice heard outside. It was the roaring of Lordes, the dragon race leader. All of them went outside and found someone fought with Lordes. He was the minister of Emphorium Kingdom, Judas. The king realized that Judas was the one who attacked him that night. He remembered Judas's voice that told him to keep silent. Lordes spitted a flame towards Judas. Judas was burnt by that flame. Lucky him, Seraphyc went there and healed him. After he healed, Judas tried to escape. Valkyrie blocked Judas's move and arrested him.

The king was very thankful to Valkyrie that she has saved his kingdom from a destruction. After knowing that actually Emphorium Kingdom didn't have a bad plan to attack them, the non-human race decided to make a relationship with them. The king promoted Valkyrie as the general of that kingdom and also the representative towards the relationship between human and non-human race. Extinguisher also promoted Valkyrie as the ambassador of non-human race with the permission of the other non-human race leader. Then, Valkyrie's life was changed and now she had many things to do. From that experience, she learnt not to act carelessly if she didn't know what's actually happened.
