

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTIONS

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

5.1 Conclusion

The writer arrives at the conclusion that magazines have their own perspective that they want to exhibit them to their readers. One way they assert the perspective is through the diction in the articles. By investigating certain words in the passage, one is able to know the position of the writers upon certain issues, whether they approve, disapprove or neutral in the matters.

5.2 Suggestion

The writer here wants to propose several suggestions to the foundation of Widya Mandala Catholic University, the lecturers, the students of English Department and the library. First, the writer notices the importance of getting the information from the native magazines of English, such as Time and Newsweek, as they do provide the readers with valuable information concerning with the U.S. and world affairs. Somehow, the perspective of Indonesia can be viewed through American perspective only to regard some issues with clearer judgment. The second suggestion is proposed for the lecturers, especially Reading lecturers to enrich themselves and the students with the reading texts outside the textbooks. To comprehend the texts better, the writer suggests that the lecturers read a little bit about sociology. Through this field, the lecturers understand the culture that creates such idioms used in the text. Moreover, by reading the magazine or newspaper articles, the lecturers, Writing lecturers, are able to see how the writers of the articles support their claims over certain issues. The students need to read a lot to enhance their reading skill. The reading itself is not a rehearsal skill, rather is experiencing skill. By having a lot of experience in reading both text books and other sources, the ability to grasp the meaning and the discourse meaning will be improved. Carefulness in reading articles is certainly needed as the issues brought are formed in accordance to the writers' own set of perspectives. Unless the readers are able to set their criteria in judging the matter, it would not be impossible for the readers to be carried away with the belief of the writers. Finally, the writer wants to emphasize the educational value carried by the magazines. The writer has found out that the university library has only one magazine, Newsweek; however, it should have both to be able to have a balance perspective upon certain matters since each magazine carries its own beliefs and principles.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

BIBLIOGRAPHY

- Bartholet, Jeffrey and Takayama, Hideko. Melting Mt. Fuji. Newsweek, vol. CXXXI, no. 6, pg. 40-42, February 9, 1998.
- Bartholet, Jeffrey. Great Expectations. Newsweek, vol. CXXXI, no. 6, pg. 52G, February 9, 1998.
- Beale, Paul. (1984). A dictionary of slang and unconventional English. London: Routledge.
- Beech, Hannah. The comeback kid. Time, vol. 151, no. 5, pg. 68, February 9, 1998.
- Biagi, Shirley. (1988). Media/impact: An introduction to mass media. California: Wadsworth Publishing Company.
- Carlson, Margaret. Blood on their hands? Time, vol. 150, no. 10, pg. 32, September 8, 1997.
- Cooper, Matthew. Was the press to blame? Newsweek, vol. CXXX, no. 10, pg. 32-34, September 8, 1997.
- Dye, Thomas R. And Zeigler, Harmon. (1986). American politics in the media age. California: Brooks/Cole Publishing Company.
- Emery, Edwin and Emery, Michael. (1978). The press and America: An interpretive history of the mass media. New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, Inc.
- Emery, Michael and Curtis, Ted (Eds.). (1986). Readings in mass communication. Iowa: Wm. C. Brown.
- Farley, John E. (1992). Sociology. New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, Inc.

Gamble, Michael W. and Gamble, Teri Kwal. (1986). Introducing mass communication. New York: McGraw-Hill, Inc.

Gibney Jr., Frank. End of an era? Time, vol. 151, no. 5, pg. 14-15, February 9, 1998.

Gove, Philip Babcock. (1986). Webster's third new international dictionary of the English language unabridged. Massachusetts: Merriam-Webster, Inc.

Harmon, Ronald M. (1995). Talking American: A dictionary of informal words and expressions. Signal Press.

Karp, David A. and Yoels, William C. (1986). Sociology and everyday life. Illinois: F. E. Peacock Publishers.

Klaidman, Daniel. The man behind the subpoenas. Newsweek, vol. CXXXI, no. 6, pg. 15, February 9, 1998.

Lacayo, Richard and Cohen, Adam. Inside Starr and his operation. Time, vol. 151, no. 5, pg. 30-34, February 9, 1998.

Light, Donald et al. (1989). Sociology, 5th ed. New York: Alfred A, Knopf, Inc.

Matthews, Owen and Powell, Bill. What really ails Russia. Newsweek, vol. CXXXI, no. 23, pg. 44, June 8, 1998.

McArthur, Tom and Atkins, Beryl. (1975). Dictionary of English phrasal verbs and their idioms. Singapore: Pan Pasific Book Distributors (S) Pte. Ltd.

McMillan, James H. (1992). Educational research: Fundamentals for the consumer. New York: Harper Collins Publishers.

Morris, William (Ed.). (1975). The heritage illustrated dictionary of the English language, new college ed.

New York: American Heritage Publishing Co., Inc. & Houghton Mifflin Company.

Nelan, Bruce W. Economic meltdown in Russia? Time, vol. 151, no. 22, pg. 21, June 8, 1998.

Neufeldt, Victoria (Ed.). (1991). Webster's new world dictionary of American English, 3rd college ed. New York: Simon & Schuster, Inc.

Renkema, Jan. (1993). Discourse studies: An introductory textbook. Philadelphia: John Benjamins Publishing Company.

Salim, Peter. (1985). Dictionary of idioms. Jakarta: Modern English Press.

Sandman, Peter M. et al. (1976). Media: An introductory analysis of American mass communication, 2nd ed. New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, Inc.

Schaefer, Richard T. (1986). Sociology, 2nd ed. New York: McGraw-Hill Book Company.

Seide, Jennifer and McMordie, W. (1980). English idioms and how to use them. Jakarta: P. T. Intermasa.

Stacks, Don W. and Hocking, Jon E. (1992). Essential of communication research. New York: Harper Collins Publishers, Inc.

Wilson, James Q. (1986). American government. Massachusetts: D. C. Heath and Company.