

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION

This chapter is about the conclusion of this study. It consists of two parts, Summary and Suggestion.

5.1. Summary

The purpose of making this thesis is to present a study which helps people get a clear description about how interference exists and may causes error, the process, types, and also the reasons that underlie those errors.

The writer started by studying the theories related to the error. After that, she collected the data needed in Kuta Beach, Bali. The informants were some souvenir vendors whom she found in random. In the process of analysing, the erroneous sentences are compared to both languages; to the native one to get the similarities of the pattern and to the target one to indicate the errors or deviations. After the errors are found, the writer traced the origin of errors using the classification theories. The result is that almost all of the errors existed in the vendors' speech are Internal Errors. They reflect the structure of the native language. In other words, the pattern of the first language infiltrates and influences the pattern in English which then cause errors.

5.2. Suggestion

Based on that fact, it is better for the vendors to deepen their effort in studying English. It is not enough just to have the ability to talk, but to know the rules that restricted the language is more important. By having a good competence of speaking English, it will give positive effect on their business itself. There will be a better communication quality, including politeness. Moreover, the tourists will feel more appreciated and more comfortable to stay in Indonesia.

On the other hand, the government should also support by building many English training centers with lower fee and supplementing books. It is necessary in order that the vendors have good quality in speaking English. As a result, it may increase the number of tourists that will visit Indonesia. Thus, it can help increasing the devisa of the Indonesia government.

Hopefully, it can help project the problems faced by the Balinese vendors in order that the government and educators can take the right steps for them.

Moreover, it is also hoped that this thesis may give some significant contribution to the field of sociolinguistics.